Introduction

Who is this book for?

Get Ready for IELTS Writing has been written for learners with a band score of 3 or 4 who want to achieve a higher score. Using this book will help you improve your pre-intermediate writing skills for the IELTS Academic Writing test.

You can use Get Ready for IELTS Writing:

- as a self-study course. We recommend that you work systematically through the 12 units in order to benefit from its progressive structure.
- as a supplementary writing skills course for IELTS preparation classes. The book provides enough material for approximately 50 hours of classroom activity.

Get Ready for IELTS Writing

- This book consists of 12 units. Each unit focuses on a different topic and these topics are ones that often appear in the IELTS exam.
- After every three units, there is a Review unit which helps you to revise the language and skills covered in the previous units.
- At the end of the book the Practice test gives you the opportunity to take an IELTS-style test under test conditions.
- There is also a full answer key at the back of the book so you can check your answers. Here you will find suggested answers for more open-ended questions and model answers for the exam practice questions in Part 3 of the unit.
- The glossary at the back of the book lists the useful words from each unit with their Cobuild dictionary definitions.

Unit structure

Each unit starts with the Aims of the unit. They outline the key language and skills covered.

Part 1: Language development provides exercises on vocabulary related to the topic as well as key grammar related to the IELTS Task covered in the unit. Clear structures are provided.

Part 2: Skills development focuses on either a Task 1 or a Task 2 question and provides step-by-step exercises and guidance on the type of essay answer required and the key stages of the writing process. The particular requirements of each type of essay question and the different formats for presenting information (tables, bar charts, line graphs, pie charts, etc.) are clearly explained.

Part 3: Exam practice provides one exam practice question for either Task 1 or Task 2 in a format that follows the actual exam. You can use this to check whether or not you are ready for the test.

Finally, a Progress check helps you to check whether you have covered the key points in the unit.

Other features

Exam information boxes in each unit provide key background information about the IELTS Writing exam.

Exam tip boxes provide essential exam techniques and strategies.

Watch out! boxes highlight common errors often made in the exam.

Study tips

- Each unit contains approximately three hours of study material.
- Try to answer the questions without looking at a dictionary to develop the skill of guessing the meaning of unknown words from context. This is important because dictionaries cannot be used during the actual exam.
- Use a pencil to complete the exercises, so that you can erase your first answers and do the exercises again for revision.
- Try to revise what you have learnt in Parts 1 and 2 before doing the practice IELTS questions in Part 3. This will improve the quality of your answers, and using the new language will help you to remember it.
- It's recommended that you try and complete all questions in the unit as the skills needed to do well at the IELTS test can only be improved through extensive practice.
- Read the answer key carefully as this provides information on what kind of answer is awarded high marks.
- Part 3 contains exam practice with timed questions. This gives you the opportunity to practise writing to a time limit. If you find this difficult at first, you could focus first on writing a high-quality response of the correct length. Then you could start to reduce the time allowed gradually until you are able to write an acceptable answer within the time limit.
- You should become familiar enough with your own hand-writing so that you can accurately estimate the number of words you have written at a glance.

Other titles

Also available in the Collins Get Ready for IELTS series: Reading, Listening and Speaking.

The International English Language Testing System (IELTS) Test

IELTS is jointly managed by the British Council, Cambridge ESOL Examinations and IDP Education, Australia. There are two versions of the test:

- Academic
- General Training

Academic is for students wishing to study at undergraduate or postgraduate levels in an English-medium environment.

General Training is for people who wish to migrate to an English-speaking country.

This book is primarily for students taking the Academic version.

The Test

There are four modules:

- Listening 30 minutes, plus 10 minutes for transferring answers to the answer sheet
NB: the audio is heard only once.
Approx. 10 questions per section
Section 1: two speakers discuss a social situation
Section 2: one speaker talks about a non-academic topic
Section 3: up to four speakers discuss an educational project
Section 4: one speaker gives a talk of general academic interest
- Reading 60 minutes
3 texts, taken from authentic sources, on general, academic topics. They may contain diagrams, charts, etc.
40 questions: may include multiple choice, sentence completion, completing a diagram, graph or chart, choosing headings, yes/no, true/false questions, classification and matching exercises.
- Writing Task 1: 20 minutes: description of a table, chart, graph or diagram (150 words minimum)
Task 2: 40 minutes: an essay in response to an argument or problem (250 words minimum)
- Speaking 11–14 minutes
A three-part face-to-face oral interview with an examiner.
The interview is recorded.
Part 1: introductions and general questions (4–5 mins)
Part 2: individual long turn (3–4 mins) – the candidate is given a task, has one minute to prepare, then talks for 1–2 minutes, with some questions from the examiner.
Part 3: two-way discussion (4–5 mins): the examiner asks further questions on the topic from Part 2, and gives the candidate the opportunity to discuss more abstract issues or ideas.
- Timetabling Listening, Reading and Writing must be taken on the same day, and in the order listed above. Speaking can be taken up to 7 days before or after the other modules.
- Scoring Each section is given a band score. The average of the four scores produces the Overall Band Score. You do not pass or fail IELTS; you receive a score.

IELTS and the Common European Framework of Reference

The CEFR shows the level of the learner and is used for many English as a Foreign Language examinations. The table below shows the approximate CEFR level and the equivalent IELTS Overall Band Score:

CEFR description	CEFR code	IELTS Band Score
Proficient user	C2	9
(Advanced)	C1	7–8
Independent user	B2	5–6.5
(Intermediate – Upper Intermediate)	B1	4–5

This table contains the general descriptors for the band scores 1–9:

IELTS Band Scores

9	Expert user	Has fully operational command of the language: appropriate, accurate and fluent with complete understanding.
8	Very good user	Has fully operational command of the language, with only occasional unsystematic inaccuracies and inappropriacies. Misunderstandings may occur in unfamiliar situations. Handles complex detailed argumentation well.
7	Good user	Has operational command of the language, though with occasional inaccuracies, inappropriacies and misunderstandings in some situations. Generally handles complex language well and understands detailed reasoning.
6	Competent user	Has generally effective command of the language despite some inaccuracies, inappropriacies and misunderstandings. Can use and understand fairly complex language, particularly in familiar situations.
5	Modest user	Has partial command of the language, coping with overall meaning in most situations, though is likely to make many mistakes. Should be able to handle basic communication in own field.
4	Limited user	Basic competence is limited to familiar situations. Has frequent problems in understanding and expression. Is not able to use complex language.
3	Extremely limited user	Conveys and understands only general meaning in very familiar situations. Frequent breakdowns in communication occur.
2	Intermittent user	No real communication is possible except for the most basic information using isolated words or short formulae in familiar situations and to meet immediate needs. Has great difficulty understanding spoken and written English.
1	Non user	Essentially has no ability to use the language beyond possibly a few isolated words.
0	Did not attempt the test	No assessable information provided.

Marking

The Listening and Reading papers have 40 items, each worth one mark if correctly answered. Here are some examples of how marks are translated into band scores:

Listening:	16 out of 40 correct answers:	band score 5
	23 out of 40 correct answers:	band score 6
	30 out of 40 correct answers:	band score 7
Reading	15 out of 40 correct answers:	band score 5
	23 out of 40 correct answers:	band score 6
	30 out of 40 correct answers:	band score 7

Writing and Speaking are marked according to performance descriptors.

Writing: examiners award a band score for each of four areas with equal weighting:

- Task achievement (Task 1)
- Task response (Task 2)
- Coherence and cohesion
- Lexical resource and grammatical range and accuracy

Speaking: examiners award a band score for each of four areas with equal weighting:

- Fluency and coherence
- Lexical resource
- Grammatical range
- Accuracy and pronunciation

1 Hobbies and interests

AIMS: Words describing hobbies and interests • The present simple • Quantifiers • Task 1 introductions • Analysing and describing a table for Task 1

Part 1: Language development

1 Look at the pictures of hobbies, then fill each gap below with the correct verb + noun.

Gabrielle: I have lots of hobbies. Every weekend I (1) play golf with my father. There is a club nearby, so we go there. I play (present simple) football (activity) every week.

We also use the present simple to talk about things we like / don't like / love / hate. These verbs can be followed by another verb in the -ing form.

I like (like verb) going (-ing form) swimming.

Complete the text using the present simple tense.

Julia and Pamela (2) tennis four times a week, and Peter (3) tennis three times a week. Over half my class (4) tennis every week. Brian doesn't like (5) tennis. He never plays! 4 There are many different words to describe quantity. Put the words from the box in the correct order from 0 (the smallest amount) to 100 (the largest amount).

0 _____ all 100

all some few a lot of not many not much no

Look at the information in the table in Exercise 3 and complete the sentences below with the correct quantity words.

- 1 A lot of boys like football.
- 2 the students have at least one hobby.
- 3 boys like swimming.
- 4 students play tennis.
- 5 students go swimming.

Part 2: Skills development

Exam information | Describing tables

In Task 1 of the writing paper, you need to describe some visual information. This visual information might be a table. You need to identify and describe the key points in the table, using formal or semi-formal writing. You have 20 minutes to do this task and you must write 150 words or more.

- 1 Look at the table. Circle the correct option in each sentence below.

Class Sports Survey
Sport	Number of students who like it	Number of students who don't like it
Tennis	8	2
Football	5	5
Hockey	3	7
Cricket	0	10

- 1 Football / Tennis is the most popular sport in the class.
- 2 A lot of students don't like football / hockey.
- 3 Football / Hockey is liked and disliked by the same number of students.
- 4 Few students dislike tennis / football.
- 5 All the students dislike cricket / football.

- 2 Now look at this table and write T (True) or F (False) next to each sentence. Give reasons for your answers.

Number of hours a week spent on activities by age range
Age range	Football	Swimming	Television	Computer games	Music
13–15 years	5	2	6	7	3
16–18 years	4	1.5	9	14	12

- 1 Older teenagers spend a lot of time swimming. F
- 2 All older teenagers like playing computer games.
- 3 Listening to music is more popular with older teenagers.
- 4 Teenagers don't spend much time swimming.
- 5 Younger teenagers spend a lot of hours listening to music.

Exam tip | Identifying key points

Make sure you understand the following in a table:

- (a) the main heading / title of the table
- (b) the column headings / categories and exactly what these show.

Look for the most important information in the table by comparing categories and groups. Notice any similarities, any differences, any obvious changes and / or trends. These are what you will need to write about in your answer.

- 3 Look at the table below, then choose the sentence, a, b or c, which best explains what the table shows.

% of time spent on types of Internet activity, by age group
Age group	Shopping	Social networking	Browsing news sites	Browsing sports sites	Playing games
10–15 years	0	23	2	5	70
16–20 years	10	51	8	10	21
21–29 years	24	44	8	6	16
30–39 years	35	25	16	14	10
40–49 years	29	10	30	19	2
50+ years	10	5	54	23	1

- a The table shows how much time people spend on the Internet.
- b The table shows how much time people spend on Internet activities depending on their age.
- c The table shows the percentage of time spent on types of Internet activity by age group.

Exam tip | Writing an introduction

Use the following structure for the introduction to a Task 1 answer:

- One sentence to explain what the table shows. (Use different words from the words used in the heading for the table wherever possible.)
- One or two sentences summarizing the information shown in the table.
- Do not include details in the introduction. Save the details for the main part of your text, after the introduction.

4 Read two different introductions (A and B) to a text about the table in Exercise 3 and answer the questions.

- 1 Circle all the verbs in the introductions. What tense are the verbs?
- 2 Look at the first sentence of each introduction. Do these sentences accurately explain the title of the table?
- 3 Underline any details in A and B.
- 4 Which introduction is better, A or B? Why?

Introduction A: The table shows how much time the age groups spend on different types of Internet activity. There are six age ranges in the table from 10–15 to over 50. The Internet activities include shopping, browsing, social networking and playing games.

Introduction B: The table shows how much people like the Internet depending on their age. 70% of children between ages 10–15 play games on the Internet, and no children between ages 10–15 like shopping. Most older people browse news sites. They spend 54% of their time reading the news on the Internet.

5 Now complete the rest of the text about the table, using the words from the box.

In general there are many differences depending on age group. The table shows that (1) spend a lot of time playing games, but older people do not spend (2) time playing games. Younger people spend more time social networking than older people, especially the age range (3) They spend 51% of their time on social networking. Most age groups shop on the Internet except for the age group (4) (5) people in this age group shop on the Internet. Browsing news and sports sites is popular with (6) age groups. Overall, young people like playing games and social networking but older people (7) reading news and (8) on the Internet.

16–20 younger age groups 10–15 shopping older like much No

Exam tip | Using the right tense

Always use the present tense to describe a table, unless it contains information about a time in the past or if past dates, e.g. years, are used as categories.

Part 3: Exam practice

Writing Task 1

You should spend about 20 minutes on this task.

The table below shows the television viewing figures for sports by country, in millions.

Summarize the information by selecting and reporting the main features, and make comparisons where relevant.

Write at least 100 words.

Television viewing figures for sports by country, in millions
Country	Tennis	Golf	Motor racing	Athletics	Totals
Australia	6.2	4.5	3.7	3	17.4
UK	6.6	2.8	6.4	4.5	20.3
USA	7	11.2	1.5	5.5	25.2
Canada	6.1	3.4	1.1	3.9	14.5
Total	25.9	21.9	12.7	16.9

Progress check

How many boxes can you tick? You should work towards being able to tick them all.

Did you ...

make sure you understood the title, headings and categories of the table?

use the present simple to describe the table (if the information in the table is about the present)?

2 Education

AIMS: Education words and collocations • The past simple • Quantifiers • Analysing and describing a bar chart for Task 1

Part 1: Language development

1 Look at the pictures. Complete the sentences by putting the letters of the bold words in the correct order.

- 1 At school, you have s a l c s e s classes for different subjects, such as maths, science and history.
- 2 The e t r e a h c will answer any questions you may have.
- 3 Sometimes at the end of the year, students take an m e a x to check what they have learnt.
- 4 Some students go on to university, where they will learn through seminars and c t u r s e l e
- 5 Sometimes a university student gives a s e i n r t a p n e t o to other students.

2 When you learn new vocabulary, try to learn which words usually go together (or collocate). Put the verbs in the box next to the nouns in the table. (You can use each verb more than once, and each noun can have more than one verb.)

take sit do give write study make pass fail get verbs

take,

nouns

an exam
a qualification
a course

verbs

nouns

an essay
a subject (e.g. biology)
a presentation

Complete the text with verbs from the table.

Mustafa: I have just finished school. I (1) passed all my exams so I am really happy! I'm going to go to university. I want to (2) Engineering. I have to (3) an entrance exam for my English because I want to study in Australia. The course sounds really good. It's at a really good university and has a mixture of assessments; I'll need to (4) essays, (5) presentations and (6) exams. I will also get some work experience! It's a lot of work but I think I will (7) a really good qualification.

Watch Out!

To pass an exam means to reach the required grade or pass mark, not to take the exam.

- 3 The notes show what the class of 2009 did after they left school. Because the information refers to a time in the past, we must use past tense verbs to describe it. Complete the sentences below with the correct past tense forms of the verbs in brackets and the correct numbers from the notes:

Destinations of school leavers, 2009

University: 12 boys 14 girls

Local college: 7 boys 1 girl

Work: 5 boys 8 girls

- 1 Fourteen girls went (go) to university after leaving school.
- 2 girl (start) college.
- 3 boys and girls (start) work straight after school.
- 4 school leavers (continue) studying after leaving school.
- 5 Only school leavers (not go) to university or college.
- 6 school leavers (decide) to go to college.

4

We can also use comparative forms to compare items. Look at the information below:

Student numbers at local primary schools, 2008

Percival School: 80 boys, 40 girls

St James School: 100 boys, 100 girls

Roysters School: 60 boys, 80 girls

Bilsing School: 35 boys, 35 girls

As much / many + noun + as (to show a quantity is the same): St James School had as many boys as girls in 2008.

Not as much / many + noun + as + noun (to show that a quantity is less): Percival School didn't have as many girls as St James School.

More + noun + than + noun (to show one quantity is larger than another): Percival School had more boys than girls.

Less / fewer + noun + than + noun (to show one quantity is smaller than another): Percival School had fewer boys than St James School (Note: fewer is used for countable nouns, and less for uncountable nouns.)

Complete the sentences about Roysters and Bilsing schools using the words in brackets and the expressions above.

- 1 Roysters School had more girls than boys (girls / boys) in 2008.
- 2 Bilsing School had (boys / girls).
- 3 Roysters School had (boys / girls)
- 4 Bilsing School had (students) Roysters School.
- 5 Roysters School had (students) Bilsing School.

Part 2: Skills development

Exam information | Describing a bar chart

For Task 1 of the writing paper you may need to describe a bar chart. Bar charts are useful for comparing the quantities of different categories (shown in the form of bars). Bar charts usually show the numbers or percentages on the left-hand vertical axis and the different categories that are being measured along the horizontal or bottom axis (plural: axes). Both axes are labelled to show what they refer to. Sometimes each category along the horizontal axis can be divided into two further sub-groups, e.g. boys / girls, so that these different sub-groups can be compared.

- 1 The bar chart below shows the information about student numbers at primary schools from Exercise 4 in Part 1. Answer the questions about the bar chart.

- 1 What do the numbers on the vertical axis measure?
- 2 How is the information grouped on the horizontal axis?
- 3 What do the different shades of the bars show?
- 4 When was the data collected?

Exam tip | Understanding a bar chart

When you first see a bar chart, ask yourself the questions in Exercise 1 and the answers will give you the essential information for understanding it. Make sure you know which units are being used to measure quantities.

Look at the following bar chart. Read the introduction to a text about it, then complete the paragraph about the girls using the phrases from the box.

This bar chart shows the numbers (in thousands) of students with pass grades in different subject exams in Wales in 2003. The chart groups the students according to subject and divides these subject groups into boys and girls. There are clear differences between the boys and the girls.

Similar numbers of girls achieved pass grades in all the subjects. The number of girls with pass grades ranged from the highest number of just over (1) 60 thousand to the lowest number of just over (2) 20 thousand, a difference of around (3) 40 thousand. Girls did best in Art, Maths and (4) English, while their lowest pass rate was in (5) Geography. Girls achieved (6) more passes than boys in four subjects: English (7) more, History and (8) more.

60 thousand more 40 thousand English Geography 20 thousand History Art

Exam tip | Beginning a paragraph

Begin a main text paragraph with a sentence summarizing the information in general (e.g. Similar numbers of girls gained pass grades in all the subjects.), and follow this with sentences giving specific details.

3

Write a paragraph describing the boys' results shown in the bar chart in Exercise 2. Begin with a general sentence about the boys' pass rates, then give specific details and numbers. Use the paragraph about the girls as a model; the words and phrases in the box will also help you. Write approximately 90 words.

however range from (number) to (number) just over / just under difference highest / lowest pass rate achieve

Part 3: Exam practice

Writing Task 1

You should spend about 20 minutes on this task.

The bar chart below shows the number of students who chose certain university subjects in 2005. Summarize the information by selecting and reporting the main features, and make comparisons where relevant.

Write at least 100 words.

Progress check

How many boxes can you tick? You should work towards being able to tick them all.

Did you ...

use common collocations (words that go together) correctly?

use comparison phrases to compare information?

make sure you understood which information the different axes of the bar chart show?

check the time period(s) shown in the bar chart?

write about the bar chart in general first, then add specific details afterwards?

The government should give more money to museums and art galleries and less money to sport. How far do you agree with this statement?

All Some people think museums are more important than sport but other people do not agree. In my opinion, art is much more important than sport.

Firstly, art shows of a country the culture so the government should give money to museums and galleries. If we did not have museums, we would not have many culture in the world. However, it is expensive to run a museum or art gallery because the government should help pay for this.

Sport is important too because it is fun and boring but people do not need many money to enjoy it. People playing sport in the park or they like watch it on television. These activities are cheap and they do not need money from the government.

4 Family

AIMS: Words describing families and relationships • Modal verbs • Structuring paragraphs and essays • Structuring a Task 2 opinion essay

Part 1: Language development

1 Complete the sentences about the family tree by putting the letters of the bold words in the correct order.

- 1 Jon's o e r m h t mother is Susan.
- 2 Jon and Rachel's o n s is Jason
- 3 Jon and Rachel's u g r e d a h t is Polly.
- 4 Polly and Jason's t e r f h a is Jon.
- 5 Polly and Jason's e r r a m g o t n d h is Susan.
- 6 Rachel's o m e t r h - n i - a w l is Susan.
- 7 Howard and Susan's n g n o s a r d is Jason.
- 8 Jason and Polly's r n s p e a t are Rachel and Jon.

2 Read the speech bubbles, then complete the sentences below with the words in bold.

My name is Clare and I'm 15 years old. I go to school and this year I will have my first exams. I want to be a doctor, but it's a difficult job, so I must study hard to pass my exams. To be a doctor, I must have a lot of qualifications, but I don't need to be very good at art or languages, just science.

I'm Clare's mother, Molly. Clare wants to be a doctor when she is older. I think she needs to study hard for this. She plays on her computer quite a lot, which she shouldn't do. I think she should study more. She is clever. I think she might be a doctor.

- 1 will – used to talk about something expected in the future
- 2 / have to / need to – used to say what is necessary
- 3 – used to say something is a good idea
- 4 – used to say something isn't a good idea
- 5 – used to say it isn't necessary to do something
- 6 / can / could – used to say what is possible
- 7 mustn't – used to say what isn't necessary

3 Rewrite the following sentences using the correct modal and semi-modal verbs from sentences 1–7 in Exercise 2.

- 1 It is a good idea for children to respect their parents.
Children should respect their parents.
- 2 I plan to go to university in the future.
- 3 It is not a good idea for parents to smoke near their children.
- 4 It is possible that children will have lessons on the Internet in the future.
- 5 It is necessary for all children to be taught basic skills like maths and reading.

4 Use modal and semi-modal verbs to give your opinions about events in the future. Should / shouldn't, can, might and could are less definite than will, need to, must and have to. Compare:

Children who disobey their parents will be punished. (= a definite future action)

Children who disobey their parents should be punished. (= a suggestion)

Children who disobey their parents might be punished. (= a possibility)

Rewrite these sentences to make them less definite.

- 1 Children who don't study will fail their exams. (→ a possibility)
- 2 University must prepare people for the best jobs. (→ a suggestion)
- 3 Children need to follow their parents' advice. (→ a suggestion)

Part 2: Skills development

1 Look at the structure of a good example paragraph.

I believe ¹the family is one of the most important structures in society. It is ²within the family that children can learn how to get on with other people and how to behave, and these things are important for life in the wider world. The family should also be a stable unit that ³provides love and support to children. Without this love and support, children might find it difficult to manage in the wider world. For example, children without loving, supportive parents could feel unable to do the things they would like to do, like go to university.

1. Main idea: the family is important.
2. Supporting idea which explains / adds to main idea: people learn how to get on with others and how to behave in a family
3. Supporting idea: the family gives love and support.

Circled words = use of cautious language

Read these statements and write T (true) or F (false).

- 1 A paragraph should have more than one main idea.
- 2 A paragraph should have more than one supporting idea.
- 3 The first sentence of a paragraph should contain the main idea of the paragraph.
- 4 The last sentence of a paragraph should contain the main idea of the paragraph.
- 5 You should mainly use definite modal verbs, e.g. will / must.
- 6 You should mainly use less definite modal verbs, e.g. can / might / could / should.

2 Now read the following paragraphs and decide which one follows the rules in Exercise 1. What is wrong with the other two?

Paragraph A: Children should learn rules from their parents. Teachers alone cannot teach a child rules. If a child doesn't have a strict home life, they could ignore the rules of the school and behave badly. Parents should teach a child rules from an early age so that when they reach school age they are more likely to behave and make friends with the other children at school.

Paragraph B: Children will be really terrible if they have terrible parents. For example, some children in my school misbehave and their parents don't care. Although the teacher complains to the parents, the parents don't do anything about it. It is better for children if their parents teach them rules from an early age. Then the child will behave better. Rules must be taught by parents and teachers.

Paragraph C: Rules are important things which must be taught by parents and teachers. Rules need to be taught by parents first because this will help when the child gets into school. If a child has no rules, he will misbehave. Also, beliefs need to be taught by parents. A child needs to learn their belief in things like religion from their parents. Parents should also teach a child some social skills, but a teacher should teach them school subjects.

Exam information | Paragraphs

An essay should be made up of separate paragraphs and the points within each paragraph should follow a logical order: firstly a main idea, followed by supporting ideas which explain or add to the main idea.

- 3 The first line of each paragraph below is missing. Write a first line which summarizes the main idea of the paragraph. The first one is done for you.

- 1 Family structures are changing in the West. ... Once, the traditional structure of two parents with two children was the most common family type in Western countries like the UK and the USA, but this is changing. New family structures include one-parent families and families with children from more than one marriage. These new family types are becoming increasingly common. Different family structures mean that many children live with a variety of full, step or half brothers and sisters.
If more women go out to work, this could affect the children in the family because they are not receiving the attention they need. Many people claim that children are happy when both their parents are working, but someone needs to look after the children and the home, and women are often better at this role.
- 3
Having brothers and sisters means that a child learns how to socialize with other children from a young age and this is incredibly beneficial for them. They also grow up and grow old with an existing support network around them, which people with no brothers and sisters may not have. An only child can also be very lonely.
- 4
It is not a child's job to cook, clean or help in the home. Children should be playing and having fun because childhood is the only time when they will be free from work. Children should be developing rather than becoming tired doing housework. Although many argue that helping in the home teaches children to look after their environment and to be clean, children can learn these things in other ways than through housework.

Exam information | Structuring an essay

Structuring an essay is an important part of writing for IELTS. For a Task 2 essay, use a standard essay structure consisting of separate paragraphs: an introduction (one paragraph), followed by the main body of the essay (two or three paragraphs), then a conclusion (one paragraph).

4 Put the paragraphs of this essay in the correct order by matching them to the headings below.

In a family, both men and women should be employed outside the home and share childcare equally. To what extent do you agree with this statement?

- a The economic benefits and the general benefits to children are the reasons why I believe that men should work outside the home and women should not. These traditional roles have worked successfully for a long time, so, in my opinion, they do not need to change now.
- b Also, women should be the main carers for their children. Although some people argue that women should be able to work outside the home, this is hard when there are children. Women give birth to the children and they need to be with them when they are small. It is also better for the children to grow up with a parent who is always at home. Being looked after by a professional carer is not as good for children.
- c Nowadays, the traditional roles of men and women have changed. More men help in the home and more women go out to work. Some people say that this is a good thing, while others say that this is a negative thing. I believe that men should go out to work and women should stay at home. I believe that this is more economically efficient, and it is also better for children.
- d The traditional structure of men working and women staying at home means that the family has more economic benefits. A man working full-time is likely to earn more money than a man and woman both working part-time. Also, it means that the woman can do things at home to save money, like making clothes or growing food.

Paragraph 1 (Introduction):

Paragraph 2:

Paragraph 3:

Paragraph 4 (Conclusion):

5 Now match the parts of an essay to their different functions.

1 Introduction

2 Main body

3 Conclusion

- a Gives some general information about the essay topic, may put forward some differing opinions and gives an answer to the essay question.
- b Summarizes all the arguments and restates your answer / opinion.
- c Describes and explains different viewpoints, arguments, advantages and disadvantages, supported by examples.

Exam tip | Introductions

The introduction to a Task 2 essay can describe the topic of the essay, give background information to it and list various opinions about it. You should also briefly state your own view, which you then go on to explain and support in the main body of the essay.

Part 3: Exam practice

Writing Task 2

How many boxes can you tick? You should work towards being able to tick them all.

Part 2: Skills development

Exam information | Describing line graphs

A line graph shows how the value of something changes over time. The vertical axis shows quantities, e.g. numbers, percentages or money. The horizontal axis shows different points in time, usually months or years. Different quantities measured at different points in time can be joined using a continuous line to show a trend or how these quantities change, e.g. increase, decrease, or stay the same. More lines (different colours or styles) can be used for different categories. The key explains which categories are being measured.

- 1 Look at the line graph and write T (true) or F (false) next to the sentences below.

- The graph shows the popularity of three different types of holiday from 1990 to 2020 in millions of travellers. ...T...
- City breaks increased gradually from 2 million travellers in 1990 to 3 million in 2010.
- There was a slight increase in skiing holidays after 1990, then they remained stable for about 5 years.
- From 2010 to 2020 it is predicted that there will be a sharp rise in the number of people who go on skiing holidays.
- Beach holidays have decreased gradually from over 4 million to 3.5 million travellers.
- From 2010 to 2020 there was a sharp drop in the number of people who went on skiing holidays.

Exam tip | Tense

Check the horizontal axis to find the periods of time the graph refers to: past, present, future, or all three.

Use the present simple to describe the graph: The graph shows ... , We can see ...

If the graph refers to past periods of time, use the past simple to describe these.

If the graph includes future times, use: It is predicted that ..., ... will ...

- 2 Look at the line graph and complete the sentences with the correct forms of the verbs in brackets.

- 1 The line graph the cost of holidays for tourists from 1990 to 2020. (show)
- 2 Between 1990 and 2000 the cost of flights rapidly. (drop)
- 3 The cost of accommodation gradually for thirty years after 1990. (go down)
- 4 It is predicted that the cost of accommodation from 2010 to 2020. (stay the same)

- 3 Look at the line graph and complete the text with the correct forms of the verbs in brackets and the correct prepositions.

The graph (1) (show) how many tourists (2) (visit) three countries in the summer of 2009. Most tourists (3) (go) to Singapore (4) June and September. The number (5) (fluctuate) between 3.5 and 4.5 thousand. Fewer tourists (6) (travel) to Japan and Thailand. The number of people who visited Thailand (7) (drop) gradually from 2.5 thousand to about 1.8 from June to August then (8) (rise) to 3 thousand (9) September. We can (10) (see) that the trend for Japan (11) (be) similar. There was a sharp drop in tourists from June to July. The number (12) (remain stable) in August and then (13) (increase) steadily in September.

Part 2: Skills development

Exam information | Describing pie charts

A pie chart is a circle (or 'pie') divided into sections. The whole circle represents the total quantity (= 100%) and the sections show how the total may be divided into different shares or proportions. These shares or proportions correspond to different categories. Pie charts are useful for comparing these categories. Proportions are shown as a percentage (%) or fraction (e.g. $\frac{1}{2}$) of the total quantity.

1 Match sentences 1–6 to pie chart A or B. Write A or B next to each sentence.

A

- 1 Fifty per cent of the DVDs sold in 2009 were comedy films. ...B...
- 2 A third of DVD sales were comedy films.
- 3 Thrillers were 25 per cent of the total UK DVD sales in 2009.

- 5 In 2009 comedy films were half the total DVD sales in the UK.
- 6 Less than 10 per cent of DVDs sold in the UK in 2009 were documentary films.

Exam tip | Using approximate language

Pie charts often compare different categories in an approximate way. If the sections of the pie chart are not labelled with precise percentages / fractions, you should describe them using approximate language.

2 Write sentences describing the pie chart using the words / phrases in the box.

approximately just over just under almost nearly

Example: Approximately 10 per cent of cinema visitors are between 40 and 54 years old.

Exam information | Comparing pie charts

- 3 Look at the pie charts and decide if the sentences below are true or false. Write T (true) or F (false).

- 1 The pie charts show how many people watched films in 1992 and 2008. F

- 3 More people watched films on television in 2008 than in 1992.
- 4 In 1992 nearly a third of films were watched on video but this amount decreased to about two per cent in 2008.

- 6 There was a slight increase in the number of people watching films on DVD from 1992 to 2008.
- 7 In 1992 no one used the Internet to watch films but in 2008 people used the Internet to watch a quarter of the total films.

C: People need to think about the environment and local culture before they travel abroad on holiday. If these things aren't considered, some areas could be badly affected. ☐

7 Read the following essay about using social networking sites at work and complete paragraph 3 with your own ideas, including reasons and examples.

What are the advantages and disadvantages of social networking in the workplace?

Social networking is common nowadays. There are few people who don't have an account on sites like MySpace, BeBo or Facebook. However, whether people should use these sites at work is debatable. Some people say that these sites should be banned at work, while others say that these sites can be an advantage. I believe these sites should be used in the workplace.

Firstly, many people say social networking sites should be banned in a work environment because staff spend too much time using them when they should be working and this can have a negative effect on a company's productivity. People use these sites at work in order to keep up-to-date with news and gossip. However, many people have lost their jobs because they have used these websites too frequently or because they have said something negative about their company or their bosses on such sites.

On the other hand, these sites can also have positive aspects in the workplace.

In conclusion, I believe that, although there are disadvantages to social networking in the workplace, people should be able to do it.

4 We can use the passive to describe a process. We use the passive for the following reasons:

- 1 When who or what did the action (= the agent) is not known
- 2 When who or what did the action is not important
- 3 When we want to focus on the object of the action more than the subject

Passive = Volcanoes are formed by the movement of the Earth's surface.

Active = The movement of the Earth's surface forms volcanoes.

Passive = Bananas are grown in hot climates.

Active = People grow bananas in hot climates.

We form the passive with the verb to be + past participle.

Sometimes an agent with by is included:

Seeds are planted by farmers.

Sometimes there is no agent:

Seeds are planted in the fields.

Complete the sentences using present simple passive forms of the verbs in brackets.

- 1 Water is stored (store) in reservoirs and used in the fields.
- 2 Grass (eat) by cows and cows (eat) by people.

Gazelles be hunted by tigers. X Gazelles are hunted by tigers. **✓

Wildlife to be protected by laws. X Wildlife is protected by laws. **✓

Part 2: Skills development

Exam information | Describing a process

For IELTS Task 1 you may have to describe a physical process. This may be illustrated in the form of a diagram showing the different steps or stages in the process. In a process description some verbs will be in the passive and some in the active.

a wheat plants cut by combine harvester

b combine harvester separates wheat and straw

c wheat taken to barn to be stored

d straw put in bales left in field

e wheat transported to factory

The diagramshows..... (show) the process of harvesting wheat. First of all the wheat plants (1) (cut) by a combine harvester. Then the machine (2) (separate) the wheat from the straw. The wheat (3) (take) to the barn where it (4) (store). The straw (5) (put) into bales and (6) (leave) in the field. Finally, the wheat is (7) (transport) to factories to be made into food products.

3 To describe a process, you can expand the labels from a diagram into full sentences.

Label: Rivers carry pollution to sea. Full sentence: Pollution is carried to the sea by rivers.

Label: Clouds store pollution / pollution turns to acid rain / acid rain falls.

Full sentence: Pollution is stored in clouds and falls as acid rain.

Notice that the labels often do not include articles (a / the) or prepositions (in / on / at); some labels are just nouns or verbs. You will need to change these by making them full subject + verb + object sentences, and adding any other words that are necessary.

Look at the diagram below and use the labels and the notes below to write full sentences.

- 1 during / eruption / magma rises / volcano's main vent

During an eruption magma rises up the volcano's main vent.

- 2 magma / erupt from / crater / top / volcano

- 3 magma / change into / lava

- 4 ash cloud / form / above / volcano

- 5 lava flows down / side / volcano

- 6 many trees / killed / lava

Exam tip | Showing the order of stages

The first sentence of a process description should explain what the diagram shows.

To show the order of stages, use sequence adverbs:

Use first, firstly or first of all for the first stage.

Use secondly / next / then / and then to describe each of the following stages.

Use finally for the last stage.

You can also use clauses with when or after to show sequence:

When the apples are ripe, they are picked and packed into boxes.

After the wheat is harvested, it is taken to the barn.

- 4 Look at the diagram below. Complete the text with words showing sequence from the Exam tip box.

This diagram shows how a glacier is formed and how it moves and changes.

(1) a large amount of snow falls on the top of a mountain. Because the temperature at the top of the mountain is very low, this snow never melts.

(2) more snow falls on top of it, the snow turns to ice. Eventually, a lot of ice is packed together, and (3) it forms a glacier. The glacier becomes very heavy and it starts to move slowly down the mountain.

Now write more sentences to describe the rest of the process. Remember to include some active and some passive verbs.

Part 3: Exam practice

Some people think that money has a negative effect on society and cannot make people happy. Some people think that money has a positive effect on society and can make people happy. Money has positive and negative effects on happiness for the following reasons.

If we do not have money, life is difficult. If we have enough money, life is easier. Wealthy people worry less. Poor people worry more. Other things in life can make people happy. 3 We use the present perfect to describe recent changes in the past that are still continuing now or are still relevant now.

The present perfect is formed as follows: has / have + past participle.

The sports centres have improved because the local government spent a lot of money on them.
The business centre of our town has expanded over the last ten years.

Complete the sentences with the present perfect form of the verbs in brackets.

- 1 Residential areas around London have grown (grow) because more people want to live near the city.
- 2 Fast-food restaurants across the world (transform) the way people eat in towns and cities.

4 Look at examples of comparative and superlative forms.

The population of Summerville was the highest in 2010
The average house price was higher in 2010 than in 2005.

Look at the information about the town of Summerville in the table and circle the correct options in the sentences below.

Changes in Summerville 2000–2010
	2000	2005	2010
Average house prices	$150,000	$155,000	$159,000
Population	45,000	53,000	61,000
Number of houses built	240	190	175
Number of sports centres	0	2	2
Number of entertainment complexes	2	2	3

- 1 Summerville had a smaller / largest / higher population in 2005 than 2000.
- 2 Average house prices were the lowest / highest / tallest in 2010.
- 3 In 2000 the population was the higher / greatest / lowest.
- 4 The number of houses / sports centres / entertainment complexes built was higher in 2010 than 2005.
- 5 The number of houses built in 2000 was lower / higher / the largest.

Part 2: Skills development

Exam information | Comparing more than one table

For Task 1 you may have to compare and describe two or more charts, graphs or tables. These may show information about the same topic but focus on different aspects.

You will need to understand what information each chart / graph / table shows and find any relationships between them, e.g. notice a change in one table / chart / graph that may be caused / be the cause of a change in another table / chart / graph.

- 1 Look at the bar chart and the two pie charts below and complete the sentences opposite.

Proportion of monthly income spent on different living expenses

- 1 During the 2000s and 2010s people in Toronto spent more on entertainment because they had higher salaries
- 2 Due to higher monthly salaries people spent more on food and clothing in the
- 3 Spending on entertainment was in the 1990s because the cost of renting an apartment was high.
- 4 People spent more on sport and entertainment in the 2000s because it was to rent an apartment.
- 5 In the 1990s the was the highest so people spent less on other things.
- 6 In the 2010s monthly salaries were high and rent costs were low so people spent more on than in the 1990s.

Exam tip | Main trends

Remember to find the main trends shown by the graph(s) / chart(s). Don't describe all the details of the information shown. Look at these example sentences describing the charts in Exercise 1:

The cost of renting an apartment was low in the 2000s so people spent more on other things. = MAINTREND

Spending on gas and electricity in Toronto was higher in the 1980s than in the 2000s.
= DETAIL

2 Now read the following sentences and decide which are the main trends and which are details according to the charts in Exercise 1. Write M (main trends) or D (details).

- 1 The money spent on home improvements was less in the 2000s and 2010s. D...
- 2 Spending on leisure activities grew over this period.
- 3 Monthly incomes in Toronto increased from the 1980s to 2010s.
- 4 The cost of renting an apartment has decreased since the 1980s.
- 5 People have spent more on entertainment and sport in recent years.
- 6 From the 1980s to the 1990s monthly salaries and the cost of renting an apartment increased.
- 7 In the 2010s people's spending on entertainment was higher.

3 Look at the graph and the bar chart below and decide if the sentences are True or False. Write T or F.

- 1 Land used for housing has decreased since 1980.
- 2 The city of Newtown has expanded the amount of its park land over the last 30 years.
- 3 The cost of all land types increased in 2010.
- 4 In 2000 more land was used for housing than for offices and shops.
- 5 The price of business land was the highest in 1980.
- 6 The amount of land used for business purposes grew from 2000 to 2010.

4 Expand these notes into full sentences to describe the graph and bar chart in Exercise 3.

- 1 cost of residential land = increase / land use for housing = decrease / since 1980
Since 1980 the cost of residential land has increased so the land used for housing has decreased.
- 2 1990 to 2000 / business land cost = slight rise / land used for shops and offices = same
- 3 since 2000 / cost of business land and business land use = stable
- 4 housing land use / decrease / last 40 years / reason = cost
- 5 land used for offices / from 1980 to 2000 / grew
- 6 cheapest land = park land / 1980 – 2010

Part 3: Exam practice

Writing Task 1

You should spend about 20 minutes on this task.

The pie charts and the table show the types of living accommodation occupied by 25-year-olds in London during the 1990s and the 2010s and the availability of different types of accommodation in London during the same two periods.

Summarize the information by selecting and reporting the main features, and make comparisons where relevant.

Write at least 150 words.

Available housing in London: 1990s and 2010 onwards
	1-2 bedroom houses	1-2 bedroom flats	3-4 bedroom houses	3-4 bedroom flats use the present perfect to describe recent changes in the past that are still continuing, have only just finished or are having an effect now?

11 Health

AIMS: Health vocabulary • First and second conditionals • Using linking words to describe cause and effect • Writing a cause and effect essay for Task 2

Part 1: Language development

1 Match the pictures to the words in the box.

patient

hospital

medicine

doctor

2 Complete the texts with the words from the box.

cure ill junk food fitter medicines ~~overweight~~ exercise illness live

Nowadays, many children are (1) overweight. There are many reasons for this; some people blame the amount of (2) that is available, and others claim it is because children don't get enough (3) The reality is that childhood obesity is probably a combination of both poor diet and lack of exercise.

Doctors have been trying to find a (4) for the common cold for many years. A cold, which is a relatively harmless (5), can occur at any time of the year and may mean that a person cannot work for up to a week. There are many (6) for treating colds. However, they cannot cure them.

It is often claimed that exercise keeps people (7) and healthier, and a recent study has shown that this is true. People who do at least 40 minutes of exercise a week, for example jogging or swimming, are less likely to become (8), and are more likely to (9) to old age.

if-clause (condition / cause) main clause (result / effect)

if + present simple + subject + will / should / could / might / may + infinitive without to Complete the sentences with phrases a–d. Then underline all the result clauses.

- 1 If doctors find a cure for the common cold,
2 if they eat too much junk food.
3 If people exercise every day,
4 if hospitals aren't free.
- a Children might become overweight
b people will have fewer absences from work
c they may live longer
d People may suffer

if-clause (condition / cause) main clause (result / effect)

if + past simple + subject + would / could / might + infinitive without to Use these notes to write full sentences with the second conditional. Keep the information in the order given.

- 1 Doctors receive better training. Patient care improve.
If doctors received better training, patient care would improve.
- 2 Junk food not exist. People not be overweight.
- 3 People live longer. All diseases cured.
- 4 Hospitals free. More people live longer.
- 5 No doctors. A lot more illness.

Watch Out!

Remember that there is only ONE clause with will / would in conditional sentences:

If we will eat more fruit, we will be more healthy. ✗

If we eat more fruit, we will be more healthy. ✓

For Task 2 you might need to write about the causes and effects of a problem or issue. Use conditional sentences and linking words such as because, so, therefore, as a result (of) to describe causes and effects clearly.

Healthcare should be free in every country because it helps improve the health of the population. Some things such as computers, cars or holidays are luxuries which people should pay for themselves, but healthcare is a necessity not a luxury. (C) If people do not have access to free healthcare, (E) minor health problems may become much worse. Also, the cost of healthcare should not stop people from going to the doctor. If poor people have to pay for healthcare, they might not visit the doctor when they are ill. If healthcare becomes more expensive, there may be some negative effects in the future. For example, if only rich people can afford healthcare, they may be much healthier and may live longer than poor people. The result of this could be an unequal and divided society.

If you smoke, you might / may become very ill. ✓

However, free healthcare does not always result in a healthy population. For example, if people choose to have an unhealthy lifestyle, (1)
Some people believe that (2), they should not receive free healthcare. In addition, healthcare comes in many forms and some of these forms of healthcare may not be essential. Most doctors think that if people want cosmetic surgery just to improve their appearance, (3)
However, doctors think that the government should pay for some forms of cosmetic surgery.

- 3 You can use other structures to describe causes and effects. Notice the order of the causes and effects and the blue words in the sentences below.

effect cause

Many people die from smoking due to lung damage and diseases such as cancer.

cause effect

Due to lung damage and diseases such as cancer, many people die from smoking.

effect cause

People can become fat because they eat too much bad food.

cause effect

Because people eat too much bad food, they can become fat.

Complete the sentences for the essay below using the phrases from the box, then mark each cause (C) and each effect (E).

Obesity is a common problem in many societies. What are the main causes of obesity and what are the effects?

- 1 People have become accustomed to junk food (C), so they do not eat enough vegetables. (E)
- 2 Because young children spend too much time watching television,
- 3 Many people have office jobs which do not involve any physical activity. As a result, they
- 4 Because, children do not know how to cook for themselves.
- 5 Due to the availability of cheap fast food,
- 6 Governments earn a lot of money from fast-food companies because their parents do not teach them ~~they do not eat enough vegetables.~~ aren't active enough.

people do not shop for fresh food.
 they do not get enough exercise.
 they tax them heavily.

- 4 Underline three mistakes with linking words in this text.

Exercise is an important part of a healthy life. If people don't exercise, they will become unhealthy. Nowadays, many people don't get enough exercise ~~due to~~ because they have jobs where they sit down all day. Additionally, life is easier. In the old days, people had to wash clothes by hand or make their own bread. Result, they were more active in their lives. Also, people didn't have cars in the old days, because they had to walk everywhere. This meant that people were active in their daily life. Now, due cars and machines which make life easier, people don't do as much. As a result, they become more unfit.

- 5 Read the essay title, then match the causes to the effects in the table. Write the headings 'Causes' and 'Effects' in the correct places.

Modern technology is a threat to the health of people all over the world. What are the main effects of modern technology on our health?

- | | |
|---|---|
| 1 Children spend too much time sitting playing video games. | a People can develop wrist problems or back pain. |
| 2 Using social media is a common hobby for many people nowadays. | b They cannot hear cars coming and may get run over. |
| 3 Ready meals are easy to buy. | c They do not move enough so they become overweight. |
| 4 Office jobs involve too much time working with computers. | d People don't cook fresh food any more. |
| 5 People in the street listen to music through headphones. | e Face-to-face activities such as sports are less popular. |

- 6 Use some of the causes and effects from the table above to write a paragraph for the same essay. Write approximately 60–80 words. Start your paragraph like this:

Many health problems today may be caused by modern technology. For example,

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

Exam tip | Building your argument

A good way of building your argument is to write the topic sentence of a paragraph, then add a cause and effect sentence to explain the topic sentence:

An inactive lifestyle is bad for people. If people don't exercise and move around, they may become ill.

Part 3: Exam practice

Writing Task 2

You should spend about 40 minutes on this task.

Write about the following topic:

Governments should introduce healthcare which prevents illness rather than cures it. How far do you agree with this statement?

Give reasons for your answer and include any relevant examples from your own knowledge or experience.

Write at least 250 words.

Progress check

How many boxes can you tick? You should work towards being able to tick them all.

Did you ...

use the first conditional to describe possible causes and effects?

use the second conditional to describe unlikely causes and effects?

use would, could, might and may rather than will to describe possible effects / results?

use linking words to express causes and effects?

3 Complete the text by putting the verbs in brackets in the correct form (tense followed by to or -ing).

Many people (1) enjoy driving (enjoy – drive), but they should try to walk as much as possible. Although using public transport is better than driving, it still pollutes the environment. If everyone (2) (decide – walk) at least twice a week, this might have a significant effect on levels of pollution. People who (3) (choose – walk) to work or school might also become fitter. People who manage to walk a short distance every day (4) (appear – feel) healthier and less stressed. Unfortunately many people are unable (5) (resist – use) their cars because they have busy lives.

4 To talk about things in general, we often use a noun with zero (= no) article or a plural:

I try to use public transport. (not 'the public transport')

Cars cause a lot of pollution (not 'the cars')*

However, with specific nouns we need an article (a / an or the):

The sun is a long way from the earth. (= only one sun and one earth in our solar system.)*

Part 2: Skills development

Exam information | A problem and solution essay

For Task 2 you might need to write a problem and solution essay. For this essay you will need to think about and explain the problems of a situation or issue and consider and evaluate more than one possible solution.

There are two possible structures for a problem and solution essay:

- | | |
|--|--|
| 1 Introduce the situation in the introduction | 2 Introduce the situation in the introduction |
| Paragraph 1 = problem 1 + solution(s) | Paragraph 1 = all problems |
| Paragraph 2 = problem 2 + solution(s) | Paragraph 2 = all solutions |
| Conclusion | Conclusion |

- 1 Read the essay title and the list of problems and solutions below. Decide which are problems and which are solutions. Write P (problem) or S (solution) next to each idea.

Many cities suffer from traffic-related problems. What problems does traffic cause in cities and what are the possible solutions?

- 1 The government should increase road tax. S
- 2 People should use their cars less and public transport more.
- 3 Traffic jams create stress in people's lives.
- 4 The cost of travelling by bus or train needs to be cheaper.
- 5 There is a lot of air pollution in cities.
- 6 Public transport is too crowded.
- 7 Many accidents happen because there are so many cars on the roads.
- 8 If driving tests were more difficult, there would be fewer cars on the roads.

- 2 Look at these ideas for the essay in Exercise 1 and match problems 1–4 to solutions a–d.

Problems	Solutions
1 Traffic jams are caused by too many cars and lorries.	a People should pay to drive into cities during busy times such as mornings and evenings.
2 Public transport is expensive so people do not use it.	b The government could help reduce train and bus fares.
3 Air pollution caused by traffic has increased health problems.	c The number of vehicles allowed into city centres should be limited to reduce the amount of traffic.
4 Traffic problems in cities increase journey times to work and school.	d Environmentally-friendly cars should be cheaper.

- 3 Read this essay title and expand the notes in the paragraphs below into full sentences. Then number each paragraph below in the correct order (1–4) to match structure 1 for a problem and solution essay (see the Exam information box).

Public transport is essential but problematic. Describe some of the problems connected to public transport and suggest some solutions.

Paragraph A: problem 2: poor / slow service: e.g. too many stops / slow journeys, bad links between buses/trains, lack of public transport in countryside; solutions: fast lanes/routes for buses; coordinate bus/train timetables; cheaper fares for travellers in country

Exam tip | Decide on a structure

Decide which problem and solution essay structure you prefer before taking the IELTS exam and do not change your mind during the exam.

- 4 It is important to check your writing for common mistakes before the end of the exam because it could improve your score. Here are some key areas where mistakes often occur:

Singular / plural: There are many type of transport. type X types ✓

Subject / verb agreement: Train fares costs too much money. costs X cost ✓

Incorrect part of speech: Traffic jams make people anger. anger X angry ✓

Underline and correct six errors in the paragraph for this essay title.

Air travel causes a variety of problems in the world and we should find alternative means of transport. Describe some of the problems caused by air travel and suggest some solutions.

First of all, air travel is a major causes of air pollution. The number of flights have increased dramatically over the last thirty years because people travel more for business, holidays and to visit friends and family. The pollution from air travel contributes significant to climate change. To reduce the effect of air travel on the environment, governments should spend most money on scientific research. Scientists must try to find a different type of fuel which does not harming the environment as much. In addition, governments could offer tax reduce to airline companies that are more environmentally friendly.

- 5 Read the paragraph below and match the underlined mistakes 1–6 to the categories a–f below. Then correct the mistakes.

Secondly, air travel is too (1) cheaper so many people choose to fly rather than take other (2) form of transport. Governments should introduce new laws to increase the cost of flying. If airline companies decided (3) charging passengers more, people (4) must decide to use other forms of (5) the public transport such as trains or ships. Another solution could be to limit the number of flights in specific parts of the world or limit the number of flights each person (6) take in one year.

1	a singular / plural
2	b infinitive with to / -ing form
3	c incorrect article
4	d subject / verb agreement
5	e incorrect word form
6	f incorrect modal verb

Exam tip | Checking mistakes

While you prepare for the IELTS writing exam, write a list of the mistakes that you often make. In the real exam, make sure you leave enough time (e.g. 5 minutes) to check your writing for spelling and grammar mistakes.

The information shows the favourite hobbies of 12 to 16-year-olds in the 1980s and 2010s and the amount of exercise they have done over this period. The information shows that favourite hobbies have changed, and also that the amount of weekly exercise has decreased for some age groups.

In the 2010s, 12 to 14-year-olds prefer activities which involve exercise. We can see that in the 1980s just over two thirds of 12 to 14 year olds named playing sports as their favourite hobby, whereas in the 2010s this number was just under a third. In the 2010s, watching TV was the most popular hobby.

This change is also reflected in the amount of exercise done by this age group. Although the amount of exercise done by 14-year-olds remained about the same throughout this period, the amount of weekly exercise done by 13 and 14-year-olds rose. In 1980, 13-year-olds did 13 hours of exercise per week on average. This decreased to 8 hours per week in 2010. This drop was steeper in 14-year-olds, from 11 hours per week in 1980 to 3 hours per week in 2010.

1 F This is false because the number of hours is small (1.5)

2 F This is false because the table shows the number of hours teenagers spend on the activities NOT the number of teenagers that like the activities.

3 T This is true because the table shows the number of hours each group spends on each activity.

4 T This is true because the numbers in the table show a low number of hours.

5 F This is false because the number of hours is 3 which is low.

Exercise 3

b best explains the table because it includes all the information and uses different words.

a does not include enough information.

c copies the title using the same words so it is not as good as (b).

Exercise 4

1 See the circled verbs in the introductions below. The verbs are in the present simple.

2 A's first sentence explains the title of the table accurately because the table shows how much time people spend on the Internet. B's first sentence is inaccurate because the table does not show how much people like the Internet.

- 3 See the underlined details in the introductions below.
- 4 Introduction A is better because it explains the table correctly and contains general information. Introduction B does not explain the table correctly and contains too many details.

Introduction A: The table shows how much time the age groups spend on different types of Internet activity. There are six age ranges in the table from 10–15 to over 50. The Internet activities include shopping, browsing, social networking and playing games.

Introduction B: The table shows how much people like the Internet depending on their age. 70% of children between ages 10–15 play games on the Internet, and no children between ages 10–15 like shopping. Most older people browse news sites. They spend 54% of their time reading the news on the Internet.

Not many people like watching motor racing on television compared to the other sports. In the USA and Canada only 1–1.5 million people watch motor racing but it is more popular in the UK and Australia. Golf is very popular in the USA with 11 million viewers but it is not as popular in the other countries.

The number of boys with pass grades ranged from the highest number of just over 70 thousand to the lowest number of just under 30 thousand, a difference of around 50 thousand. Boys did best in Maths, English and Science. Boys had the highest pass rate in any subject: just over 70 thousand in Maths. Their lowest pass rate was in Geography. Boys achieved more passes than girls in two subjects: Maths and Science.

Part 3 Exam Practice

Task 1: Model answer

The bar chart shows the numbers (in thousands) of students who chose to study different university subjects in 2005. The numbers for each subject are divided into male and female students and show some general differences between men's and women's choice of subjects.

Science and Maths were the most popular choices for male students in 2005, but non-science subjects were more popular with female students. The most popular subjects for female students were less technical subjects such as social sciences, languages, literature and humanities. Social sciences was by far the most popular subject for women. However, very few female students chose to study mathematics and law: four and six thousand students respectively. Almost no men – only two thousand – chose to study languages and very few men chose the arts. However, just as many men as women chose to study humanities.

Suggested answers:

2 Modern culture is important because it helps us understand the world today.

3 Young people prefer modern culture but it is not always better than traditional culture.

4 Both traditional and modern culture are popular so we should encourage both of them.

Preserving traditional culture helps people understand the past and that will help them in the future.

Young people are more interested in modern culture so traditional culture is likely to disappear naturally.

Traditional culture may not be relevant to modern life so it is not as important.

Modern culture may come from a foreign country and bring strange values and customs.

Modern culture focuses more on the present and the future so people forget about traditional ways.

Traditional culture is often more important for older people but it should be preserved.

Part 3: Exam practice

Task 2: Model answer

Some people think that young people should spend their free time on cultural activities like music, film and theatre. Others believe that playing sport is better for young people. In my opinion, both culture and sports are important parts of life so young people should do a mixture of both.

Sport gives young people the chance to exercise, which is important for health reasons. Sport also teaches young people about rules and teamwork. Cultural activities are good for the health of the mind and spirit and allow young people to be creative and experience different worlds. However going to the theatre or learning a musical instrument can be expensive. Sports activities can be less expensive but can be dangerous and lead to injury.

In my opinion, doing only one type of activity – just sport or just music, for example – can be bad. Many young people concentrate on one activity in order to become the best, like young sports stars. This can put a lot of pressure on them and make them less interesting than someone who does a variety of things.

I believe that young people should have the chance to do a variety of activities and that a balance of sport and cultural activities is best.

All ~~Some~~ people think museums are more important than sport but other people do not agree. In my opinion, art is much more important than sport.

Firstly, art shows the culture of a country ~~of a country the culture~~ so the government should give money to museums and galleries. If we did not have museums, we would not have much / a lot of ~~many~~ culture in the world. However, it is expensive to run a museum or art gallery so ~~because~~ the government should help pay for this.

Sport is important too because it is fun and exciting / interesting ~~boring~~ but people do not need much / a lot of ~~many~~ money to enjoy it. People ~~play~~ playing sport in the park or they like watching ~~watch~~ it on television. These activities are cheap and they do not need money from the government.

Part 3: Exam practice

Task 2: Model answer

Some people say that children should always follow their parents' advice; others claim that this is not always right. I believe that children should follow their parents' advice when they are young, but they should become more independent when they are older.

Young children do not know the difference between right and wrong, and a parent is the best person to teach them this. For example, a young child does not know that it is wrong to take things that do not belong to them. Parents can also teach children about dangers, both in the home and outside.

However, when children grow older they should pay less attention to their parents. This is because parents might tell a child which career to choose, and this should be the child's decision. Parents sometimes want to tell their children how to live, but when they are grown up, they can decide for themselves. If a child doesn't make their own decisions, he or she might grow up to be less independent and strong.

In conclusion, parents need to give young children advice on morals and safety, but not on how to live when they are older.

The line graph shows the percentage of tourists to Scotland who visited certain Edinburgh attractions between 1980 and 2010. We can see that in 1980 and in 2010 the favourite attractions were the castle and the festival. In 1980 the least popular attraction was the zoo but in 2010 this changed and the aquarium was the least popular.

During the 1980s and 1990s there was a rapid increase in visitors to the castle from 25% to 45% and then the percentage gradually went down to 30% in 2010. The trend for the aquarium was similar to the castle. Visitors increased rapidly from 20% to 35% from 1980 to 1985 then gradually decreased to less than 10% over the next twenty-five years. The number of tourists who visited the festival fluctuated slightly but in general remained stable at about 25%. Visitors to the zoo also fluctuated from 1980 to 2000 then rose sharply from 10% to 20% between 2000 and 2010.

Task 1: Model answer

The pie charts show the proportions of Oscar winners for seven different genres of film in 2003 and 2008. Between 2003 and 2008 the proportion of films that won Oscars changed for nearly all the genres. In particular, many more action films and science fiction films gained Oscars in 2008 than in 2003.

The proportion of thrillers that won Oscars went down from about half of the total in 2003 to a third in 2008. The number of horror films that won Oscars also decreased by about half from 2003 to 2008. Action, documentary and science fiction films all increased their share of Oscars between 2003 and 2008. Action films increased from about 20 per cent of the total in 2003 to almost a quarter in 2008. The proportion of Oscar winners for documentaries, romance and science fiction all increased by approximately fifty percent between 2003 and 2008. Exercise 2

Paragraph 1: B; Sentence c added

Tourism has increased dramatically over the last thirty years because of easier and cheaper air travel, meaning more and more people can get to other places quickly and easily. Many people see tourism as a good thing for countries, but tourism also has many negative aspects. I believe tourism is just as negative as it is positive because tourism can damage local culture and be bad for the environment.

Paragraph 2: D; Sentence b added

Firstly, when an area becomes a tourist destination, it can lose some of its traditional ways. For example, tourists come and often signs are put up in foreign languages. In many tourist resorts there are bars, shops and staff that do not represent the local culture. Sometimes, a person can go on holiday and not hear the local language at all. It is important to preserve local languages and customs or they may be lost.

Paragraph 3: A; Sentence d added

Tourism is also bad for the environment in general. Busy tourist resorts can get a lot of litter, and a place that was once beautiful can become quite ugly because of this. On a larger scale, travelling long distances by air can be damaging for the planet because it creates a lot of pollution.

Paragraph 4: C; Sentence a added

These are the main reasons why tourism can be just as negative as positive. People need to think about the environment and local culture before they travel abroad on holiday. If these things aren't considered, some areas could be badly affected.

Exercise 3

The line graph shows how people liked to watch films between 1985 and 2005. We can see that some methods of watching films became less popular, while some other new methods became very popular. We can also see that watching films on TV has always stayed popular.

Firstly, both video and cinema (vi) decreased steadily over the twenty year period. Video watching (ii) dropped from nearly 80% in 1985 to around 20% in 2005. This is similar to watching films at cinemas, which (v) fell steadily by about 20% over this time.

Some methods of watching films have become more popular. Watching films on the Internet and DVD both (iii) increased from 1990 to 2005. There was a (vii) sharp rise (from 0% to 65%) in DVD watching. Watching films on the Internet (i) rose steadily from 0% to just under 40%. The high percentage of people who watched films on TV (iv) remained stable at around 80%.

There are many advantages of social networking. Firstly, social networking means that people can keep in touch with their friends and family easily. For example, if a person has relatives in another country, they can keep in contact using Facebook. In addition, social networking helps people pass on news. Often when a news story breaks, social websites help us hear the experiences and opinions of the people where the news is happening.

However, social networking also has some disadvantages. Social networking can be addictive, especially in young people. Young people may spend too much time on social networking compared to other activities. Furthermore, nobody knows the true identity of some of the people using social websites. Sometimes people think they are talking online to someone friendly, but it might be a dangerous stranger.

Disadvantages: lots of websites unsuitable for young people; too difficult for old people to learn how to use; isolated old people prefer being with real people to sitting at a screen

On the other hand, these sites can also have positive aspects in the workplace. Social networking isn't limited to sites like Facebook or BeBo. There are also work-based social networking sites which can be beneficial to companies. For example, LinkedIn lets professional people link up with other business people and develop their work contacts. This may bring benefits to a business. In addition, social networking can make people happier at work. Without access to things like Facebook or MySpace, experienced staff might become unhappy in their jobs and decide to leave.

Part 3: Exam practice

Task 2: Model answer

Since its development in the 1970s, the Internet has become a key tool for obtaining information and for communication all over the world. The Internet has both advantages and disadvantages but, overall, I believe the advantages are stronger than the disadvantages.

Firstly, the Internet has made work and social life much easier. Sending emails and using video conferencing in the workplace have made business quicker and more efficient. For example, in the past, people often had to travel long distances for meetings and now they can video call instead. Also, the Internet makes it easier to keep in contact with family and friends through email and social networking websites. People can give friends and relatives their news quickly and easily. In addition, meetings, parties and social events for large groups of people are easier to organize in this way. Finally, finding out information online is much quicker than visiting libraries or making expensive phone calls.

On the other hand, people claim the Internet has disadvantages. Some people say that the Internet makes people lazy. For example, people now do lots of things online, like shopping and socializing, when it might be better for them to do these things in the 'real' world. Furthermore, the Internet contains a lot of information which is not correct. This is because anyone can put anything they want on the Internet and it is not always checked for accuracy or truth. Users need to be sure that the websites they look at are reliable sources of information.

In conclusion, although it has advantages and disadvantages, the Internet has made life so much easier in so many ways, that, as long as people know how to use it effectively, it can be an excellent tool.

Exercise 2

Money is important in life but it does not always bring happiness. Some people say that having more money makes life less stressful, while other people argue that happiness can be found in other aspects of life such as work, family or hobbies. In my view, having more money does not make people happier but it makes life easier. There are two reasons for my opinion.

- 1 that having more money makes life less stressful
- 2 that happiness can be found in other aspects of life such as work, family or hobbies
- 3 that having more money does not make people happier but it makes life easier
- 4 two reasons

Exercise 3

Model answer

Personal happiness can come from many different aspects of life. For some people happiness comes from being successful, either at work or at school or within a community. On the other hand, some people argue that personal happiness depends on being able to enjoy life and on having a positive attitude when bad things happen. I believe that personal happiness is more about individual personality and less about particular life events, personal success or possessions.

Secondly, having more money can help people plan for the future so they have more control over their lives. I believe that saving money helps people to become more independent because they will not have to ask for financial help when they are old. In addition, they can plan for things like their children's education or buying a bigger house. However, people with little money cannot plan for the future easily because they have to focus on the present. Some people argue that having less money does not prevent people planning for the future, but, in my view, it makes it much more difficult.

Exercise 5

Model answer

Enjoying the little things in life can be another important factor in happiness. Some people think that life is about achieving great things like having a successful job and a big house, but life is also about small pleasures like having a good dinner or a nice walk in the countryside. If people enjoyed these little things more, then they might be happier in general.

Part 3: Exam PracticeTask 2: Model answer

Everybody wants to be happy, but there is often a debate over what makes a person happy. Some people believe happiness can only come from friends and family. According to other people, happiness comes from money and possessions. I believe that happiness comes both from close family and friends and also from having enough money and possessions.

Firstly, everybody needs enough money to live – to pay for a home, food and other necessities. If people have money to spare after paying for these things, they often spend money on possessions which make them feel happy for a short time. However, this kind of happiness often does not last because money and possessions alone cannot bring happiness. Rich people can be very lonely if they don't share their money and possessions with others. It has also been proved that having a good time with friends and family brings people more happiness than a fast car or new clothes.

On the other hand, very poor people are not usually happy, even if they have large families and many friends. Money worries will cause them a lot of stress and this will mean they are not able to enjoy life. Their friends and family may be able to support them and help them by lending them money, but this may lead to problems. I agree that family and friends are important, but without a good income, they may not be enough.

In conclusion, I believe that both money and possessions as well as a family and friends are important to happiness and that neither is more important than the other. People who don't have enough money to live but who have good friends and a strong family may be just as unhappy as wealthy people who have more than enough but no family or friends to share it with.

Part 3: Exam Practice

Task 1: Model answer

The diagrams show how radiation from the sun reaches the Earth and how the greenhouse effect works. The greenhouse effect happens when heat radiation from the sun is trapped inside the Earth's atmosphere.

First of all, heat radiation is produced by the sun. This radiation travels towards the Earth's atmosphere. About twenty per cent of the sun's radiation is scattered and reflected by clouds. Six per cent of the radiation is scattered by the Earth's atmosphere. Approximately twenty per cent of the radiation is absorbed by the Earth's atmosphere and by clouds. Just over half of the radiation is absorbed by the Earth. As a result the Earth is warmed by the sun's radiation.

At night some of the Earth's heat is lost. Then the greenhouse gases in the atmosphere trap and reflect the heat back to the Earth. This trapped heat makes our planet warm enough for life. However, pollution may increase the quantity of greenhouse gases in the atmosphere. More greenhouse gases trap and reflect more heat. This may mean the Earth becomes warmer.

Part 3: Exam practice

Task 1: Model answer

The pie charts and table show 25-year-olds' accommodation and the availability of different types of housing in London in the 1990s and 2010s. Since 2010 the lower number of available 1–2 bedroom houses and flats has reduced the housing choices for this age group.

Shared accommodation has become the most common form of housing for this age group in the 2010s. In the 1990s, only around 50% of those surveyed lived in shared houses or flats. In the 2010s this number has grown to around 75% of 25-year-olds living in London. The higher number could be due to the stable availability of larger houses and flats during this period.

There was also a drop in the number of people living alone. In the 1990s around a quarter of 25-year-olds lived alone in London. However, from 2010 onwards, the reduction in the availability of 1–2 bedroom houses and flats has altered this figure. In the 1990s there were 34,000 1–2 bedroom houses and 32,000 1–2 bedroom flats available. These figures dropped to 12,000 and 10,000 from 2010 onwards.

Finally, living with parents has become less common. There was a reduction in the number of 25-year-olds living with parents from around a third in the 1990s to under a quarter in 2010.

Healthcare should be free in every country because it helps improve the health of the population. Some things such computers, cars or holidays are luxuries which people should pay for, but healthcare is a necessity not a luxury. (C) If people do not have access to free healthcare. (E) minor health problems may become much worse. Also, the cost of healthcare should not stop people from going to the doctor. (C) If poor people have to pay for healthcare. (E) they might not visit the doctor when they are ill. (C) If healthcare becomes more expensive. (E) there may be some negative effects in the future. For example, (C) if only rich people can afford healthcare. (E) they may be much healthier and may live longer than poor people. The result of this could be an unequal and divided society.

Also, people didn't have cars in the old days, ~~because~~ so they had to walk everywhere. This meant that people were active in their daily life. Now, due to cars and machines which make life easier, people don't do as much. As a result, they become more unfit.

Model answer

Many health problems today may be caused by modern technology. For example, if children spend too much time playing video games, they may not do enough exercise and may become overweight. Also, people who use computers at work can develop health problems, such as wrist problems or back pain, because they spend all day sitting in the same position. Finally, people spend less time playing healthy sports because they prefer to use social media.

vegetables, taking regular exercise and giving up smoking. Governments should also try to reduce environmental pollution because this can cause illness and health problems.

However, having a healthy lifestyle cannot prevent all health problems. There are many diseases, such as cancer, which are a result of living in the modern world and which cannot be prevented by a healthy lifestyle. Accidents at work or on the roads will also cause injuries which need medical treatment. If governments focus mainly on prevention, there may be less money for urgent healthcare and many people could suffer.

In conclusion, I believe that governments should provide a balance of prevention and treatment because of the different types of health problem, but their main focus should be on prevention rather than cure.

Part 3: Exam practice

Task 2: Model answer

Healthcare is very important for everyone in the world but it can be very expensive. Many people believe that governments should try to prevent illness by making sure everyone in their country has a healthy lifestyle. I agree that preventing illness is better than curing it.

The cost of medical treatment can be high so governments have to think of ways to encourage people to be healthier. If people are healthy, they will not need medical care so often. Many diseases can be prevented if people have good diets, take exercise and give up unhealthy habits such as smoking. If people cannot work or care for themselves or their family due to illness, this will cost governments and taxpayers a lot of money. In my opinion, governments should spend money on producing information leaflets and films which encourage people to follow healthy lifestyles, such as eating plenty of fruit and

Suggested answers: (The order of paragraphs here is the correct order for a structure 1 problem and solution essay.)

1 Paragraph B = Introduction: Public transport is essential for going to and from work and school. However it can be expensive and crowded. In my opinion it needs better planning. This essay will describe the problems involved in public transport and suggest possible solutions.

2 Paragraph C = Problem 1 + solutions: Firstly, there is a problem with the cost of public transport. Fares can be very high and so people do not use it and drive cars instead. As a result, the number of cars on the roads increases. In my opinion, fares should be reduced for some people, such as old people and students. Many people also think that driving should be made more expensive. For example, cars could be taxed more and parking could be more expensive. This will make public transport cheaper.

3 Paragraph A = Problem 2 + solutions: Another problem is that sometimes public transport offers poor, slow service. For example, buses and trains stop too frequently which makes journeys slow. Also, there are bad links between buses and trains. Furthermore, there is often a lack of public transport in the countryside. One solution is for buses to have fast lanes on roads and to follow fast routes, without too many stops. Timetables should also be coordinated better. Some people think that country travellers should have cheaper fares.

4 Paragraph D = Conclusion: Although there are many challenges in public transport, there are solutions, and overall I think that public transport which is properly planned is a good thing.

Exercise 4

First of all, air travel is a major ~~causes~~ cause of air pollution. The number of flights ~~have~~ has increased dramatically over the last thirty years because people travel more for business, holidays and to visit friends and family. The pollution from air travel contributes ~~significant~~ significantly to climate change. To reduce the effect of air travel on the environment, governments should spend ~~most~~ more money on scientific research. Scientists must try to find a different type of fuel which does not ~~harming~~ harm the environment as much. In addition, governments could offer tax ~~reduce~~ reductions to airline companies that are more environmentally friendly.

Exercise 5

Secondly, motorways can spoil the environment. Motorways often go through beautiful areas and may damage plants and wildlife. This problem could be avoided by building motorways through less beautiful areas or putting some sections in tunnels. In addition, the large amount of traffic on motorways produces both air pollution and noise pollution. However, governments could help to reduce air pollution by making environmentally-friendly cars cheaper. Noise pollution could be reduced by changing motorway surfaces or by putting up sound-proof fences.

Despite the problems of motorways, they are necessary and useful. With careful preparation and planning, the problems they cause could be reduced. People today are also more aware of environmental issues and as a result cars and road transport in general are becoming more environmentally friendly.

Part 3: Exam PracticeTask 2: Model answer

Many countries in the world rely on motorways for speedy and efficient transportation, as they are a very convenient way of travelling long distances. However, motorways also have negative aspects such as dangerous traffic, damage to the environment and pollution. In this essay, I will look at some of the problems of motorways and how they can be overcome.

One major problem of motorways is that they can be dangerous. In many countries, the speed limit on motorways is very high. This means that any accidents are more likely to be serious and involve many vehicles. Sometimes in bad weather, several vehicles crash into each other and many people are killed or injured. This problem could be solved in a number of ways. People could have special lessons on how to drive safely on motorways. In addition, special signs could be displayed when driving conditions are bad to make people drive more slowly and safely. Alternatively, the general speed limit could be reduced slightly.

Exercise 3

The information shows the favourite hobbies of 12 to ~~16~~ 14-year-olds in the 1980s and 2010s and the amount of exercise they have done over this period. The information shows that favourite hobbies have changed, and also that the amount of weekly exercise has decreased for some age groups.

In the 2010s, 12 to 14-year-olds prefer activities which do not involve exercise. We can see that in the 1980s just over ~~two-thirds~~ a half of 12 to 14 year olds named playing sports as their favourite hobby, whereas in the 2010s this number was just under a third. In the 2010s, ~~watching TV~~ playing computer games was the most popular hobby.

This change is also reflected in the amount of exercise done by this age group. Although the amount of exercise done by ~~14~~ 12-year-olds remained about the same throughout this period, the amount of weekly exercise done by 13 and 14-year-olds ~~rose~~ decreased / went down. In 1980, 13-year-olds did 13 hours of exercise per week on average. This decreased to 8 hours per week in 2010. This drop was steeper in 14-year-olds, from 11 hours per week in 1980 to 3 5 hours per week in 2010.

Exercise 4

 Suggested sentence: There is overcrowding in cities because a lot of people move to cities to get jobs.
- 3 Obesity leads to ill health. (problem) – Create free exercise programmes. (solution)
 Suggested sentence: Obesity leads to ill health, so free exercise programmes should be created to prevent this.
- 4 Make driving more expensive. (solution) - Too many cars on the road. (problem)
 Suggested sentence: If driving were more expensive, this might reduce the number of cars on the road.
- 5 Public transport becoming more expensive. (cause) – People using cars more. (effect)
 Suggested sentence: Due to the increasing expense of public transport, people are using cars more.

Task 1: Model answer

The bar chart shows the sales of four different types of music across five age ranges in 2010 in the USA. The youngest age group is 16–22-year-olds and the oldest is the over 58-year-olds.

Different music genres were popular with different age ranges. Overall, young people between the ages of 16 and 31 preferred to buy rock and pop music, whereas older people liked jazz and classical music. We can see that rock music was the most popular music genre for three out of five age groups. In all age groups except the 46–57-year-olds and the over 58-year-olds, jazz sold more recordings than classical.

Some age groups preferred to buy a specific genre of music. For example, the over 58 group bought approximately four and a half million classical recordings, the 23–31 age group bought just over four million rock recordings in 2010 and the youngest group bought almost five million pop recordings. Sales of rock recordings were the highest of all the genres in 2010.

Task 2: Model answer

Nowadays, the Internet is used widely in education around the world. Some people say it is beneficial for teaching and learning because there is so much information available. However, others claim that the Internet is bad for students' research skills and believe that its use should be restricted. I believe that use of the Internet should be limited in some ways, but it is still a valuable educational tool.

Firstly, the Internet is essential for many people today. It is widely used in the workplace and people's everyday lives, both for finding information, for personal finance, for keeping in touch with friends and family, for social networking and so on. Therefore school students should learn how to use it correctly. In addition, students also need it for research in school and university subjects. Nowadays the most up-to-date information can be found on the Internet, rather than in books which can become out of date very quickly. Using the Internet is a convenient way of finding out information and developing independent research skills.

However, the Internet has some negative aspects. For example, not all websites are reliable or contain accurate information. Students need to learn how to evaluate and check the material they find on the Internet. Also, many students simply copy large amounts of material, such as essays from the Internet. Some students then pretend that this material is their own work, which is illegal. If students simply copy information or material from the Internet without understanding or analysing it, they will not learn it fully. Teachers need to teach students how to research and use information from the Internet properly.

In conclusion, schools and universities should teach students how to use the Internet by teaching them good research skills. If students know how to use the Internet effectively, they are likely to become better students and have better employment opportunities in the future.
